ERNIE SHORE LOOKS LIKE RED SOX PUNCH

Ernie Shore.

Ernie Shore has done as much if not more than any other of the Red Sox twirlers to keep the team near the top of the race and if Boston comes through to the pennant battle Ernie should have plenty of applause. A high class pitching staff is the desideratum of any team that hopes to get near the rag and Shore is leading his fellow twirlers with a gilt edged line of goods.

FINEST COMEDY IS "LOST BRIDEGROOM"

Jack Barrymore, in Famous Players at Royal, Can Not Be Beat.

If he had been a regular "ten-twenty-thirty" hero, Jack Barrymore would have said, "Hold! If you strike that woman you do it at your peril. Red Mike!" But being Bertie Joyce in the Famous Players Film company's "The Lost Bridegroom," which is the Paramount Picture at the Royal today, Barrymore simply swung for the thing's jaw as he attempted to hit Dorothy Hardin, and started a battle which ended very suddenly on the floor eighteen steps below. There Joyce lay stunned by the fall down the whole flight of stairs.

About one week before this memorable fight, Joyce was to have married Dorothy. In fact he had already celebrated his bachelor dinner. Thereby hangs the tale. For it was while returning from the dinner that Joyce was hit on the head by two hold-up men and so badly injured that he lost his memory. In addition to his memory, the thugs also deprived him of his money, his dress coat and his overcoat, but they shied at his tail hat.

Still suffering from the effects of the blow, Joyce lies down on a pier, sleeps soundly, and falls into the water. Clambering out, he removes his dress shirt, wrings it out and then carefully placing it over his arm, puts on his top hat and strolls into the first saloon that meets his dazed eye.
The place happens to be the headquarters of a gang of thieves and they are bent on throwing the new arrival into the street until the proprietor's daughter persuades them to look him over more thoroughly. It is decided that he would be a good man to train up as a gentleman burglar.

Having read of the tremendous amount of wedding presents received by Dorothy Hardin, and never suspecting the identity of Joyce, they appoint him as one of three to steal the wedding gifts. Thus it is that he gets into the fight with the thug who attacks Dorothy when she interrupts the crooks at their work. But he has not recognized Dorothy and never knows anything about his life in the underworld when a very minor operation completely restores his memory.

"The Lost Bridegroom" is one of the most funniest and by far the most thrilling film in which even Jack Barrymore has ever appeared. The picture was produced under the direction of James Kirkwood. Among the cast gathered in support of Barrymore are Katherine Harris, Ida Darling, June Dale, Hardie Kirkland, Edward Strugis and others who are equally well known.

AETNA POWDER CO. CLOSES FEARING RAILWAY STRIKE.

GARY, Ind., Aug. 31.—The Aetna nation-wide strike take place Monday.

Twenty five thousand men will be
